To Our Members:

SWED remains committed to the community and is a driving force behind Salisbury and Wicomico County’s economic sustainability and development; even during these difficult times. Nearing completion of my first term as President, I continue to be impressed with the actions and initiatives of our organization in spite of the lingering recession. SWED and its members make a difference locally and regionally!

As highlighted throughout this report, SWED has recorded measurable and meaningful accomplishments that benefit our community today and in the years to come. From assisting officials at our regional airport with marketing and incubator management to providing “gap” funds for new construction projects to securing much needed space for various corporate expansion opportunities, SWED continues to focus on its core mission of creating a diverse economic base through the creation and preservation of productive employment opportunities.

After nearly four and half decades, the efforts of SWED can be seen throughout the economic landscape and have somewhat mitigated the negative effects of the recession. At the same time, our organization is not an entity that rests on past deeds and is very well aware of the challenges ahead. With continued strong partnerships and a strong focus on our core objectives, our organization will continue to generate results.

Thank you to all of our members, government supporters and the community-at-large for your confidence and support of SWED. Also, thank you Dave Ryan for your leadership and results! It is truly my pleasure and honor to serve as your President and I look forward to serving you in my second year of office.

Sincerely,

Scott Aja, President

Our Strategy

In 1967, Chris-Craft Corporation announced its closing, eliminating hundreds of jobs in Wicomico County. Business and government leaders shortly thereafter created the Salisbury-Wicomico Economic Development Corporation in an effort to mitigate future plant closings while attracting new and diverse industries to our region. This activity reduces reliance on few companies or industries while providing new job opportunities for all citizens. Our focus is three-fold:

1) Business Retention/Expansion:
   Most businesses derive seventy to eighty percent of revenue from existing customers. As a correlation, most new jobs in any community originate from resident businesses. A strong business base also helps to attract new firms to a growing area.

2) Business Attraction:
   New and diverse businesses mitigate adverse effects of economic downturns, reduce reliance on a few firms, increase the taxable base, and add jobs. Ancillary or indirect benefits are as great, if not greater, than direct benefits.

3) Strengthen SWED:
   Since its establishment in 1968, SWED has received financial and professional support from public and private sectors. Both sectors demonstrate an interest in economic development and both sectors possess unique resources. A combined public-private effort maximizes resources, leverages capital, and broadens expertise.

Through forty-three years of operation, our organization has experienced a variety of economic circumstances and conditions. We’ve operated during tremendous growth cycles and also significant downturns and virtually everything in between. For the past several years and perhaps at no other time in our organization’s history have economic conditions been so uncertain and tenuous. The “Great Recession” has forced change upon all organizations and communities and as an organization and community, we are no different.

Though change is inevitable, one constant has been our focus on core objectives: namely, job creation, job preservation and economic diversification. While far from immune to national economic conditions, due to these objectives and more importantly to our commitment toward these goals, we’ve helped to mitigate the impact of the recent recession and its lingering effects.

The following chart illustrates Wicomico’s unemployment rate versus that of the nation for the past ten years. While Wicomico’s rate has remained for the most part below that of nations, it is far too high and we’ll continue our work in the coming year to attract new jobs and investment to our community.

Clearly, activity within the housing and related construction sectors have experienced a significant downturn. As excess inventory of existing homes are reduced, slowly, we’ll see a rebound in local economic activity and in particular, new residential and commercial construction.

The timeframe for any rebound is at best difficult to predict. But on a positive note, employment in the past several months has shown an increase over the previous year as illustrated in the following chart.

Overall, with a fairly diverse economic base, our community is well positioned to take advantage of future growth opportunities.

One such opportunity seized last year involved “swapping” space among two local firms. HBCS, a service provider to numerous hospitals, found they had excess space and overhead while The Knowland Group, a start-up operation in the hospitality industry desired additional space. By “swapping spaces”, both companies benefitted and as a community, we were able to preserve approximately fifty jobs and allowed for the growth of an additional one hundred fifty jobs.

Given the state of the current construction market, SWED was pleased to offer “gap” funding for several projects.

Coastal Linen’ Inc., an industrial laundry operation, received loan funds from the SWED Revolving Loan Fund (SES-RLF) for the new construction of a $1 million plant in WestWood Commerce Park.

Likewise, Bennett Construction and Evo Craft Breweries received loan funds from the Southern Eastern Shore Revolving Loan program for expansion purposes. Bennett Construction plans to Construct a new 15,000 s.f. facility for a processing operation while Evo Craft Brewery plans to renovate a current vacant building into a brewery and brew pub. Together, Coastal Linen, Inc., Bennett Construction and Evo Craft Brewery anticipate adding approximately one hundred fifty new jobs to their current base and invest millions of dollars in construction and plant, property and equipment.

Internally, we maintained our policy of updating our web site on a daily basis responded to each and every one of the hundreds of calls we receive annually from people of all walks of life seeking information on our community.

Approximately one hundred members and guests attended our annual meeting held in October at The Fountains. Celebrating our 42nd year of operation, Dr. Bob Wood, Dean of the Perdue School of Business, provided an update as to the status of the new building and the direction in which the school is pursuing.

From a fiscal perspective, we recognize the challenges from both public and private sectors in terms of funding operations. Our budget remained the same as that of last year and is down significantly (33%) from just several years ago. Though our budget has diminished, our ambition and determination toward attaining our goals have not. Like other organizations, we’ve adapted and with a strong and “laser-like” focus on our mission, we look forward to achieving measurable results in the year and years ahead.

To all of our partners, thank you for your continued support.
